Losing Irreplaceable Data Becomes a Thing of the Past Thanks to StoreSMART.com

Discover No-Tech Solutions for High-Tech Organization

ROCHESTER, New York—Is an irreplaceable thumb drive rattling around somewhere in your desk drawer? Did you leave that important SD Card in one of your suit pockets? And how did that DVD get so badly scratched?

“Data drives are easily misplaced or left on desks where they can pick up dust,” says Reenie Feingold, product designer and founder of StoreSMART.com . “In pockets, they can pick up lint or be damaged by coins. Dirty drives can damage your computer or other devices. Plus, they are so small it is difficult to label them properly.”

No need to lose or damage another flash, thumb, or USB drive, data stick, memory or SD card again. All of your high-tech electronic storage devices can be efficiently organized and protected with an easy-to-use, no-tech plastic storage system developed by StoreSMART, a leader in high quality media packaging and organization. From adhesive pockets that adhere to appropriate folders, to three-ringed zipper binder pages, sheet protector styles, and even protective pockets that hang around your neck—StoreSMART has over 10,000 sizes, many styles, colors, printing, and other customizable options.

StoreSMART’s plastic storage holders have been used in homes and offices; at schools and universities by students and faculty; and by commercial packagers and printers. “We can make a product to fit any requirements,” says Feingold. “ Just contact us and we’ll design it for you!” StoreSMART.com has been bringing quality products and services for storage, organization, display, filing, and distribution since 1971.
